

Albion: New single “Millennial Me” set for release on the 19th March via Lizard King records

London based group Rock-group Albion releasing their first of three singles in collaboration with Lizard King Records (The Killers, Santigold)

Albion are a 5-piece group focussed around solid song-writing providing a crisp new take on blues, folk and classic rock with soaring vocal harmonies and guttural driving guitars. Their rowdy live performances have garnered them an ardent loyal fanbase across the capital.

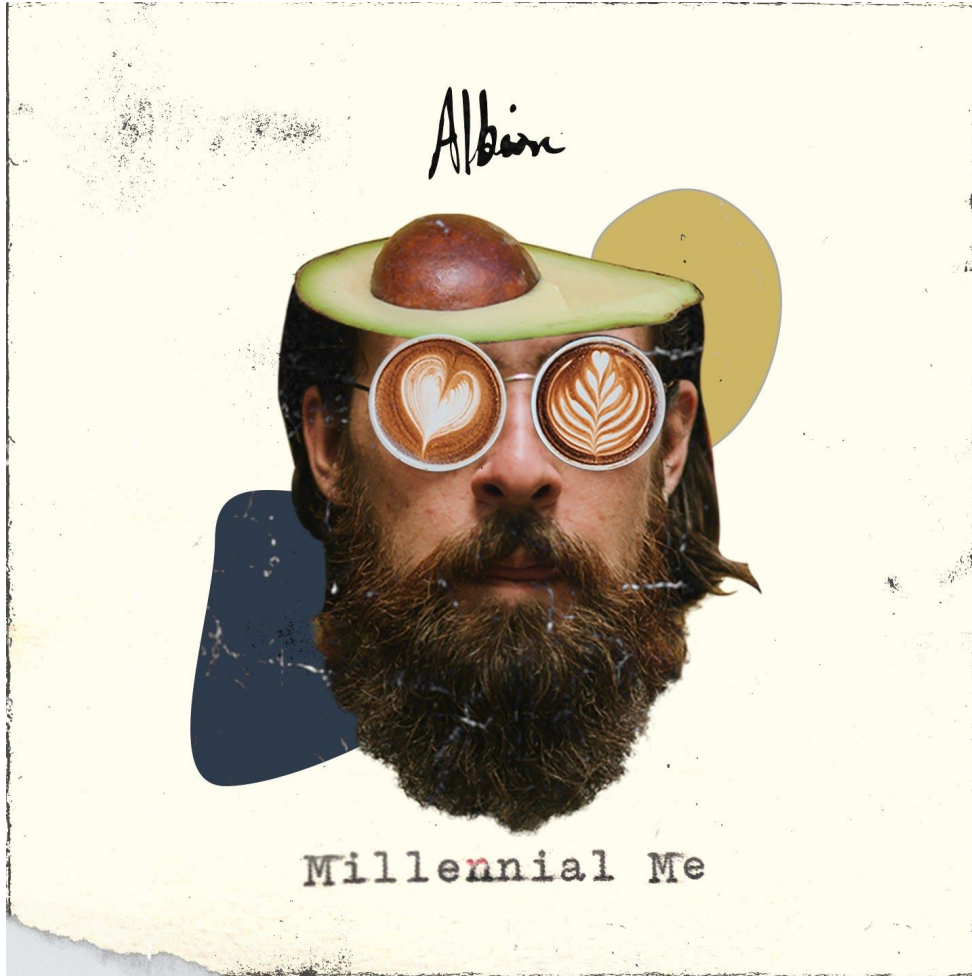

After a sold-out performance at Camden’s Dingwalls, Albion caught the eye of Martin Heath (notable for creating Lizard King records and signing The Killers, Santigold).

The group then decamped to Rockfields studios in South Wales, the famed studios hosting Queen, Oasis, The Stone Roses, Black Sabbath, Coldplay) where working with Bruno Ellingham (The Maccabees, New Order, Elbow, Spiritualized) they have recorded an initial 3-single series set to shake up and disrupt modern rock music and provide their unique take on the struggles we face in modern society.

See the below link for advanced listening opportunity of the groups first single Millennial Me

<https://soundcloud.com/user-661673249/millennial-me-alt-intro/s-2EToolouz5C?in=user-661673249/sets/millennial-me//s-fP4uVcYJhsZ>

Social Media and Website:

<https://www.facebook.com/youandalbion>

<https://www.instagram.com/youandalbion/>

<https://www.albion-band.co.uk/>

Contact:

Albionband0@gmail.com